About the Apraxia Kids National Conference

The Apraxia Kids National Conference is the only major conference on the speech, language, learning, and life needs of children with childhood apraxia of speech. Our conference is unique as it brings together parents, professionals, educators, and others who are seeking the most up-to-date and in-depth learning opportunities available on topics surrounding apraxia, including early childhood development, education, advocacy, and more. We are anticipating our largest in-person gathering in 2022 with more than 600 attendees in Las Vegas in July.

Since 2004, over 4,400 attendees have joined us across the country. After not being able to meet in person since 2019, we are very excited to bring our parent and professional communities together in 2022. Everyone who attends is united in their passion for supporting children, not only with their speech issues but in all aspects of their lives. Our theme for 2022 is to educate and bring awareness about the effects of apraxia on the whole child across diversity in age, ethnicity, and language.

For many participants, the National Conference changed the trajectory of their experiences as a parent or a professional. Parents move from feeling isolated and unsure, to developing a network of support and a foundation of knowledge. Professionals learn the most evidence-based methods and approaches for assessment, diagnosis, and treatment.

Show your support for children with apraxia and their families by sponsoring the 2022 Apraxia Kids National Conference!
