About the Apraxia Kids National Conference

The Apraxia Kids National Conference is the only major conference on the speech, language, learning, and life needs of children with childhood apraxia of speech. Our conference is unique as it brings together parents, professionals, researchers, and others who are seeking the most up-to-date and in-depth learning opportunities available on topics surrounding apraxia, including assessment and treatment, comorbidities, education, advocacy, and more. In 2024, we are returning to our home base in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and are anticipating our largest in-person gathering with possibly more than 600 attendees.

Since our first conference in 2004, over 5,000 attendees have joined us across the country. Everyone who attends is united in their passion for supporting children in all aspects of their apraxia journeys. This year, we aim to continually educate and bring awareness about the effects of apraxia on the whole child across diversity in age, ethnicity, and language.

For many participants, the National Conference changed the trajectory of their experiences. Parents move from feeling isolated and unsure, to developing a network of support and a foundation of knowledge. Professionals learn the most evidence-based methods and approaches for assessment, diagnosis, and treatment.

Show your support for children with apraxia and their families by sponsoring the 2024 Apraxia Kids National Conference!

Thank you for partnering with Apraxia Kids!
